Mercy Education Project is pleased to commemorate our 25th Anniversary with timeless Pewabic art, designed exclusively for MEP. To celebrate 25 years of opening doorways to brighter futures for girls and women in Detroit, limited edition Pewabic tiles will be offered as gifts to donors to our 25th Anniversary Campaign at the $1,000 and $5,000 levels — an heirloom-quality memento.

MEP’s 25th Anniversary Pewabic tile design is inspired by the original Doorway to the Future opened by Catherine McAuley in Dublin, Ireland in 1827. The 4" x 6" tile features the essence of the first House of Mercy, a place to shelter and educate women and girls, from which all Mercy ministries grew. Designed by Pewabic in-house designers, Dave McGee and Genevieve Sylvia in collaboration with MEP and handcrafted by Pewabic artisans, this unique design speaks to those dedicated to the many causes that blossomed all over the world from the original House of Mercy and Catherine McAuley’s work on behalf of disadvantaged women and children in Dublin. September 27, 2017 marks 190 years since that door was opened.

Pewabic is a National Historic Landmark pottery located in Detroit’s Jefferson Corridor. Since 1903, Pewabic artisans have handcrafted ceramic art beginning with raw, earthen materials and a clay mixer dating to the early 1900’s. Their process is timeless, and every handcrafted object created by Pewabic artisans continues to enrich Detroit’s heritage.

Two handcrafted limited edition versions of the Doorway to the Future design will be released during our 25th Anniversary year (2017) and unveiled at MEP’s 25th Anniversary Doorway to the Future Gala and Auction on April 27th at the MGM Grand Detroit.

Handpainted, tri-color tiles will feature all three glazes pictured above.
Two-tone tiles will feature the cinnamon glaze above with scrape.
